DAN SMOOT

THIRD ROLL CALLS, 1965

In the May 31, 1965, Report ("First Roll Calls, 1965"), we tabulated 14 roll call votes in the national Congress (seven in the House, seven in the Senate) during the first two months of the year. In the June 14, 1965, issue ("Second Roll Calls, 1965"), we tabulated 14 roll calls taken during March, April, and May. Herein, we tabulated 14 roll calls (seven in the House, seven in the Senate) taken during April, May, and early June.

The present Senate, though it contains a few good conservatives, is an aggregation of socialists who calls themselves "liberals" or "moderates." Only 22 Senators have conservative ratings of 60% or better (12 Republicans, 10 Democrats). Only four (three Democrats, one Republican) have conservative ratings of 90% or better: Harry Flood Byrd and A. Willis Robertson (Virginia Democrats), 95%; Strom Thurmond (South Carolina Republican), 91%; Richard B. Russell (Georgia Democrat), 90%.

In the House, however, a fine group of conservatives have fought with courage and determination against the President's unconstitutional programs. Their leadership has encouraged others, and they are gaining strength. On the 21 House roll calls which we have tabulated thus far in 1965, 144 Representatives (100 Republicans, 44 Democrats) have conservative ratings of 60% or better. Of these 144, 64 have conservative ratings of 90% or better; 23 have 100% ratings. Here are the 23 Representatives (15 Republicans, 8 Democrats) with 100% conservative ratings:

Alabama: Buchanan, Dickinson, Edwards, Martin (all Republicans)

California: Clausen and Younger (Republicans)

Georgia: Callaway (Republican)

Illinois: Reid (Republican)

Iowa: Gross (Republican)

Kansas: Dole (Republican)

Louisiana: Long, Passman, Waggoner (Democrats)

Mississippi: Abernethy, Colmer, Williams (Democrats); Walker (Republican)

Missouri: Hall (Republican)

Nebraska: Martin (Republican)

Nevada: Baring (Democrat)

Ohio: Devine (Republican)

Oklahoma: Belcher (Republican)

Texas: Pool (Democrat)

Thus, to date, the House, in the 89th Congress, is almost equal to the House in the 88th Congress (1963-1964), which had 159 representatives with conservative ratings of 60% or above. The present House is much more conservative than the House in the 87th Congress (1961-1962), which had only 83 Representatives with conservative ratings of 60% or above.

One election held in 1965 indicates growing conservative strength. On June 15, 1965, Albert W. Watson (formerly a Democrat Representative from South Carolina) was re-elected to his House seat as a Republican. Watson's opponent was a "moderate" Democrat. A close contest was expected; but Watson, a strong conservative, got 69.7% of the total vote—in a heavy voter turnout.

IMF Funds

On April 27, 1965 (by a stand of 203 to 91), the House passed HR 6497, an administration bill which increases U. S. contributions to the International Monetary Fund by $1,035,000,000.00. This brings our total IMF contributions to $5,160,000,000.00.

Harry Dexter White (member of the Council on Foreign Relations and undercover Soviet spy) planned the International Monetary Fund at the Bretton Woods Conference, July 1 to 22, 1944. White (first director of the IMF) established basic policies which the United States government has followed since the end of World War II. These policies, of which the IMF is an integral part, were intended to accomplish four major objectives:

(1) Strip the United States of the great gold reserve (which had made our dollar the dominant currency on earth) by giving the gold away to other nations;

(2) Build the industrial capacity of other nations, at our expense, to eliminate American productive superiority;

(3) Take world markets (and much of the American domestic market) away from American producers until capitalistic America could no longer dominate world trade;

(4) Entwine American affairs — economic, political, cultural, social, educational, even religious — with those of other nations, until the United States could no longer have an independent policy, either domestic or foreign, but must become an interdependent link in a worldwide socialist chain.

The new IMF-funds bill and the new foreign-aid authorization (discussed later in this Report) indicate that the Harry Dexter White plans are still being followed. They are near fulfillment.

The vote on IMF funds is recorded in Column 15 under House, C indicating a conservative stand against this additional grant of our tax money to the International Monetary Fund.

Helicopter Subsidies

On April 29, 1965, the House and the Senate passed Conference versions of HR 7091, the Second Supplemental Appropriations Bill for Fiscal 1965. Prior to passage, the House rejected a motion by administration forces to include $942,000 for additional subsidies to helicopter service in New York City, Los Angeles, and Chicago. The stand was 159 for the additional subsidy, 243 against. The Senate agreed to the House action, and President Johnson later announced he was considering dropping the helicopter subsidy after 1966.

The vote is recorded in Column 16 under House, C indicating a conservative stand against subsidies for helicopter operations.

National Council of Arts

As pointed out in "Second Roll Calls, 1965," our government, in the hands of totalitarian liberals, is moving toward control of the arts, under guise of promoting art, denying that federal aid will bring federal control, ignoring the fact that any kind of federal activity in the arts is unconstitutional. Another significant step was taken on April 29, 1965, when the House (by a stand of 250 to 126) passed HR 4714, a bill authorizing an annual appropriation of $150,000 for the National Council of Arts.

The vote is recorded in Column 17 under House, C indicating a conservative stand against this unconstitutional use of tax money.

Foreign Aid

On May 25, 1965, the House (by a stand of 263 to 162) passed HR 7750, the Foreign Assistance Act of 1965. The bill authorized $3,367,670,000.00 for foreign aid during fiscal year 1966.

Some of this money will go directly to Latin American labor unions, for housing projects. Representative E. Ross Adair (Indiana Republican) proposed an amendment to specify that only "non-communist dominated" unions will get our tax money. Administration forces opposed the Adair amendment, which the House (by a stand of 233 to 192) rejected.

The vote on the Adair amendment is recorded in Column 18 under House, C indicating a conservative stand for stipulating that American tax money cannot be given to Latin American labor unions unless they are "non-communist dominated." The vote on passage of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1965 is recorded in Column 19 under House, C indicating a conservative stand against this unconstitutional giveaway of our tax money to foreigners.

During Senate debates on the Foreign Assistance Act of 1965, Senator Jack Miller (Iowa Republican) introduced an amendment which would have prohibited aid to any country more than one year behind in payment of its dues to the United Nations. The Johnson administration opposed this amendment; and the Senate (by a stand of 63 to 30) rejected it. This vote is recorded in Column 20 under Senate, C indicating a conservative stand for stopping aid to nations which will not pay their past-due UN dues. The Johnson administration's incredibly humiliating stand concerning the refusal of nations (particularly the Soviet Union) to pay UN dues, is set out in some detail in the April 19, 1965, issue of this Report, "Through The Looking Glass."

For years, liberals have tried to get long-term foreign-aid appropriations, to avoid the annual conservative opposition to this disastrous, unconstitutional program; but Congress has refused to authorize foreign aid for more than one year at a time. This year, the Senate version of the Foreign Assistance Act (S 1837) authorizes foreign aid for two fiscal years (1966 and 1967). Senator Ernest Gruening (Alaska Democrat) proposed an amendment to eliminate the authorization for 1967. Complying with administration wishes, the Senate (by a stand of 66 to 28, on June 9, 1965) rejected the proposed Gruening amendment. This vote is recorded in Column 21 under Senate, C indicating a conservative stand for restricting foreign-aid authorizations to one year.

UAR and Indonesia Aid

The United States helped Sukarno become dictator of Indonesia and helped Nasser become dictator of the United Arab Republic. Nasser is an instrument of Soviet foreign policy. Sukarno is a friend and supporter of the Chinese communists. Both are outspoken, implacable enemies of the United States. Yet, both have received vast sums of our tax money as gifts and loans, under various foreign-assistance programs. Every year, our government, through the Food for Peace program, gives Nasser and Sukarno huge quantities of our agricultural products.

In May, 1965, when the House was debating HR 8370 (Agriculture Department appropriations for fiscal 1966), conservatives tried to amend the bill to prevent allocation of funds for export of U. S. food to Nasser and Sukarno. On May 26, the House (by a stand of 217 to 196) complied with administration demands and rejected the proposed amendment. The vote is recorded in Column 20 under House, C indicating a conservative stand against giving our agricultural products to Nasser and Sukarno.

National Debt Increase

On June 9, 1965, the House (by a stand of 244 to 180) passed HR 8464, authorizing a "temporary" increase in the national debt to $328 billion. In 1959, Congress set a permanent statutory limit of $285 billion on the national debt. "Temporary" increases have since been made in each session of Congress.

The debt limit was "temporarily" raised three times in 1963.

The vote is recorded in Column 21 under House, C indicating a conservative stand against increasing the national debt limit, in violation of the 1959 statute.

Voting Rights Bill

On May 26, 1965, the Senate (by a stand of 80 to 20) passed S 1564, the Voting Rights Act of 1965. For details on this unconstitutional, ex post facto law against six southern states, see the May 10, 1965, issue of this Report, "Voting Rights Bill."

Prior to final passage, the Senate adopted amendments which made the voting rights bill even worse than it was when originally introduced.

On May 19, the Senate (by a stand of 67 to 29) accepted an amendment, proposed by Senator Hiram L. Fong (Hawaiian Republican), which authorizes the U. S. Attorney General to assign federal poll watchers in voting districts where federal voting registrars are assigned.

On May 20, the Senate (by a stand of 59 to 32) accepted an amendment sponsored by the two New York Senators, Republican Jacob K. Javits and Democrat Robert F. Kennedy. The Javits-Kennedy amendment can force states to grant the vote to a person who cannot read or write English, if the person has a sixth grade education from a school conducted under the American flag.

On May 25, the Senate (by a vote of 70 to 30) adopted a cloture motion made by Senator Philip Hart (Michigan Democrat). Cloture limits debate, so that opponents of a bill cannot discuss it thoroughly. Invoking cloture on a bill as outrageously unconstitutional as the Voting Rights Act of 1965 is most alarming.

The vote on the Fong amendment is recorded in Column 15 under Senate, C indicating a conservative stand against. The vote on the Javits-Kennedy amendment is recorded under Column 16, C indicating a conservative stand against. The vote on cloture is recorded in Column 17, C indicating a conservative vote against. The vote on passage of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 is recorded in Column 18 under Senate, C indicating a conservative stand against the Act.

Public Works Act

On June 1, 1965, the Senate (by a stand of 78 to 17) passed S 1648, the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965, which authorizes annual appropriations of $665,000,000 for the next five years, to aid economically depressed areas. The money is to be used to develop waterworks, sanitary and storm sewers, industrial parks, police and fire stations, tourism facilities, airports, watershed protection and flood prevention projects. Funds may be used for other projects such as residential streets, hospitals, vocational education facilities, community centers.

The bill "encourages" regional economic planning. It authorizes the Secretary of Commerce to designate "economic development regions" which would cross state lines; it authorizes the Secretary to "invite and encourage" states to establish multi-state regional planning commissions.

The vote on this bill is recorded in Column 19 under Senate, C indicating a conservative vote against this unconstitutional invasion of states rights and squandering of tax money.
